"Using Labor's Capital to Repower America"

Our Noon Lunch Forum
Friday April 30, 2010 12:00 to 1:30 PM

600 Embarcadero, San Francisco

OUR FORUM SPEAKERS:

Steve Westly
THE WESTLY GROUP

Anne Stausboll
CEO, CALPERS

Bill Lockyer
CALIF. STATE TREASURER

Our 2010 Forum's theme is Using Labor's Capital to Repower America - in recognition that the climate crisis combined with our pressing need for sustainable jobs requires the reinventing our power and transportation infrastructure.

Today state treasurers and controllers across the country are working together with public and union pension fund managers on initiatives that unite climate and investment strategy. Entrepreneurs and investors are advocating for nonpartisan policies to catalyze clean-tech development and create green jobs. Unions are leading advocates of public and private investment for good paying jobs and a green sustainable economy. Yet there is still a great need for more education and more organizing to bring business, labor and capital together and use that tremendous power for achieving common goals.

This high-level forum is designed to focus on the power of Labor's capital, in the form of public employee and union pension funds, as a vehicle for growing green jobs, clean-tech business and a sustainable economy. We use web-video to record and expand the reach of the forum's presentations.

We are organizing two pre-forum small group symposiums and a press briefing on California High-Speed Rail.

Port Truck Drivers Deserve a Shot at the American Dream

Every day 20,000 California truck drivers haul containers full of goods from the busiest ports in the country to large retailers such as Wal-Mart and Target. These truck drivers keep our world's economy moving, often working as many as 14-15 hours a day.

Most port truck drivers are barely paid enough to make ends meet because they are currently misclassified as "independent contractors" by the trucking companies they work for. Drivers aren't the only ones who suffer from this system; everyone who breathes the air in the Bay Area pays a price. With poverty wages, port drivers can't afford to replace or retrofit their polluting diesel trucks. Becoming employees would give them an opportunity to drive cleaner trucks and form a union to achieve the American Dream.

Join the Fight for Clean Air & Good Jobs

The Port of Oakland is considering a "Clean Trucks" proposal similar to a landmark policy enacted by the Port of Los Angeles, which would grant drivers "employee" rights. This would make the trucking companies and their retail shipper clients responsible for the costs of buying and maintaining new environmentally-friendly trucks.

Get Involved

The Living Wage Coalition is a grassroots movement of low-wage workers and their allies fighting for economic justice. We have been struggling since 1998 to change political priorities so that government does not subsidize poverty wage employers. We are engaged in a radical rethinking of the economy that makes the goals of economic development a more prosperous, healthier and livable community.

UFCW 8 President Jacques Loveall, center, stands with Industrial Relations Coordinator Lee Schreiter and their colleague David Knoll at the summit of Mount Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, on Jan. 7, 2010. # Just climb.

Sometimes in life we confront challenges that seem insurmountable, like climbing a 19,340-foot mountain, curing a devastating disease or helping low-income immigrants find justice in the workplace. But history tells us that even the most daunting challenges can be successfully met if we dedicate ourselves and focus on our goals.

UFCW 8-Golden State shares with Instituto Laboral de la Raza our belief in the potential of “ordinary” human beings to do extraordinary things.
