Robert Jennings
Labor Trustee
Pipe Trades District Council 36

You want your funds to work as hard as your members do.

Funding the Pipe Trades apprenticeship program is vital not only to the next generation of tradesmen, but to the future of the industry. Just ask Robert Jennings. As Labor Trustee for Pipe Trades District Council 36, he relies on Union Bank's expertise to take the labor out of managing his Taft-Hartley Trust funds banking needs. Our Labor Management specialists help Robert maximize his funds' assets with accurate and timely reporting. And with our customized treasury management tools, he enjoys a high level of account visibility, which helps streamline annual audits. For over 60 years, we've helped labor unions administer their trusts with the greatest of ease. Now that's a legacy you can count on.

To put our Taft-Hartley expertise to work for you, call us today.

A woman and a young girl are the central figures in the background image. The woman, wearing a white and red baseball cap and a red, white, and blue striped tank top, is smiling and looking towards the camera. The young girl, with dark hair and bangs, is wearing a green headband and a red, white, and blue striped tank top, and is also smiling. They are surrounded by other people in patriotic clothing, including American flags and Uncle Sam hats, suggesting a parade or festival setting. The background is slightly blurred, focusing attention on the woman and girl.

At AT&T we believe in communities. That's why we do what we do. Like striving to connect people with good jobs, donating our time and talent, supporting the underserved, and promoting innovative educational programs.

Because we believe the power of you creates limitless possibilities for us all.

That's why we proudly support Instituto Laboral de la Raza.

TOGETHER, WE CAN CONNECT MORE KIDS TO OPPORTUNITY.

We're honored to be a part of caring communities dedicated to helping more families overcome the digital divide.

The Internet has the potential to level the playing field in American life, especially when it comes to access to education – but only for those who can afford it.

In fact, according to the Pew Research Center, less than half of those with household incomes under $30,000 have broadband at home. That just isn't right. And it's intolerable to the 3,000 organizations across the country that are already working with us to close this divide.

Internet EssentialsSM offers families with a child eligible to receive free or reduced price lunches through the National School Lunch Program fast, affordable Internet service for $9.95 per month plus tax with no price increases, the option to purchase a computer at enrollment for $149.99 plus tax and access to free digital literacy training.

AmericansForSafeAccess.org

Americans for Safe Access is the largest national, member-based organization of patients, medical professionals, scientists and concerned citizens promoting safe, legal access to cannabis for therapeutic use and research.

We are overcoming political and legal barriers to help create policies that improve access to medical cannabis for patients and researchers and protect the rights of patients.

ASA is achieving this change through legislation, education, litigation, grassroots actions, advocacy and services for patients and their providers.

Congratulations to the Instituto's 2013 National Labor Community Awards Winners!

It's time to define medical marijuana laws in California!

CRMM is working for a "safe regulated and affordable" system of access for all patients in medical need. It is time to legislate a comprehensive statewide system to legally provide for and regulate the commercial distribution, production, and sales of marijuana for medical use. We support with a collective-bargaining-driven industry and much needed new revenues. All of this for our patients, workers and California communities.

Join CRMM, Americans for Safe Access and UFCW on May 4th-6th for the 2013 California Medical Cannabis Policy Summit & Lobby Day in Sacramento! Our 2nd annual summit includes a networking reception, a full day of stakeholder workshops for citizen-lobbyists and our State Capital Lobby Day.

POLICY REFORM

Congratulations to all of the Instituto's 2013 National Labor Community Awards Winners!

The Coalition for Cannabis Policy Reform represents leading groups and citizens working to end cannabis prohibition in California.

Focused on strategic policy and organizing work, CCPR is the largest, most experienced, trusted and unified coalition working for cannabis policy reform in California.

We are actively preparing a statewide ballot initiative and campaign for 2016 that will be supported by a majority of California voters to End Cannabis and Hemp Prohibition in California.

www.WorkingMedia.info

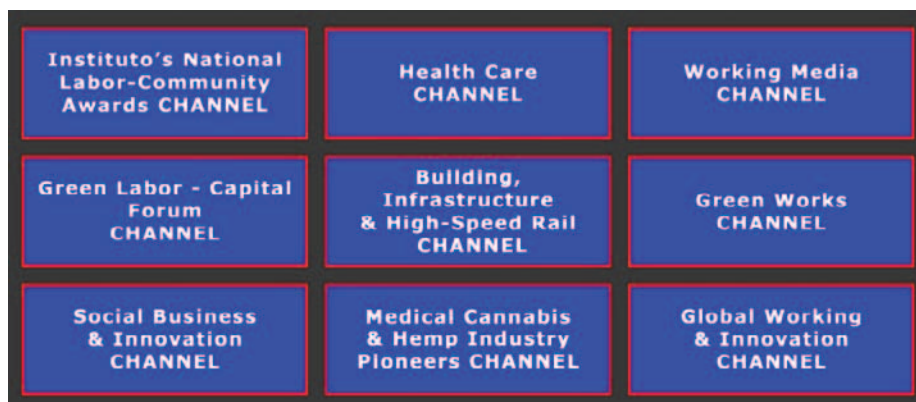

Working Media uses web video and cloud computing technology to tell stories, deliver access to information and vocational training to improve the lives of low-income working people.

Working Media is our program designed to use web-video to tell stories and deliver access to information. It is supported by bilingual print materials and personal presentations. Our program of education and advocacy for the working poor is designed to be accessible to all. The overall focus is practical, results oriented media that helps improve the lives and opportunities of low-income working people.

For several years the Instituto has been using web-video to tell our story through our website and expand the reach of the special events we organize to a national audience. We have developed a Working Media web-video portal with its own dedicated domain, (www.WorkingMedia.info). Here we post original content video from our annual National Labor-Community Awards and our Green-Labor-Capital Forum as well as short web-videos produced by others that spotlight programs and address important issues.

One of our goals is to provide young people with real-world digital media production opportunities and support to those who have aspirations for careers in digital media. We are engaging college and high school students in the production and editing of original content videos. We are expanding our Instituto Support Group structure, (www.ilaboral.org/supportgroup/) focused on engaging volunteers in Cloud Computing service work, to engaging youth in digital media and web-video production work. We are collaborating with both veteran producers and youth with basic web-video and social networking skills. The idea is to provide a “learn by doing” framework for young producers. We give them with a community based and world wide showcase for the digital storytelling work they accomplish while working with us.

Working Media — For a World That Works!

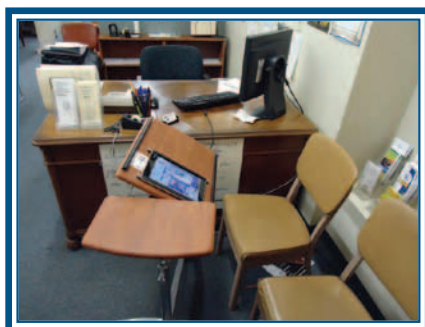

In 2012 we have expanded our web-video portal into several content specific channels. Our goal is to both display own self-produced videos and to showcase videos from around the web focused on educational stories, innovations and solution oriented campaigns for “a world that works”.

More than a destination for viewing video - we are a hub for discovering great videos that can be redistributed, posted into blogs, newsletters and embedded into other web channels.

Cloud Based Information Services and Vocational Training. The Instituto has been successfully using the Salesforce.com “cloud computing” database and contact management system for over two years. Salesforce.com provides its CRM database system to nonprofit groups such as the Instituto for free. The cloud based software allows us to have access to functionality that formerly was the domain of only large enterprises. We use the system for managing our donor contacts, producing targeted list and mailing labels. Through our Instituto Support Group we have dedicated team of volunteers that works remotely entering data and expand our capabilities. The Instituto is working to establish a vocational training program that will be focused on teaching Salesforce.com focused job skills and Call Center customer management job skills. As far as we are aware, there is no other Salesforce.com training program in existence, designed to serve low-income people at the level we are planning. We will be a pioneering program designed specifically for low-income people to gain Salesforce.com and call center entry-level office career opportunities.

We have designed a unique Touch Pad Web-Video Delivery System consisting of a 3G Wi-Fi connected iPad secured to a laptop stand on wheels in our client reception area. This provides our clients ready access to the videos, and other web tools while they are in our office. We have plans to place this simple Wi-Fi enabled iPad-based delivery system with other community based organizations that are serving the poor in San Francisco.

Instituto Laboral de la Raza

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT

We are seeking donations of computer hardware, software, and general IT services!

Instituto Laboral de la Raza (www.ilaboral.org) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, non-partisan workers resource center headquartered in the Mission District of San Francisco. For over 30 years, the Instituto has served the critical needs of low income workers and their families. We provide legal services, peer counseling, financial education and access to a network of services, all at no charge. Our doors are open seven days a week. We rely on donations and community grants.

Our Working Media program (www.workingmedia.info) uses web video and cloud computing to tell stories about a world that works. The program is designed to deliver access to information and vocational training to improve the lives and opportunities of low-income working people.

WORKING FOR A HEALTHY CALIFORNIA

SEIU-UHW's 150,000 hospital, nursing home and home care members are working with elected officials, healthcare providers, community organizations, businesses and others to improve healthcare. Working together we can slow the rates of chronic disease, protect both the state's and working families' budgets and improve the health of all Californians.
