Established in 1963, AFSCME District Council 57 is a progressive labor organization dedicated to providing professional service, resources and training to develop, empower, unify, guide and support the work and responsibilities of our local unions. Through staffing and leadership we assist in representation and bargaining that will help AFSCME members improve their working conditions to benefit them, their families and communities. Council 57 participates in political actions to accomplish our objectives. We support and assist our local unions in meeting their responsibilities to remain viable and financially solvent. As the liaison to our International Union we provide a delegate assembly as a forum for governance and unity.

CONGRATULATIONS

The Alliance recognizes that the vibrant and successful private sector it seeks to enhance in San Francisco, is necessary if we are to have the jobs, educational opportunities, public safety, health and other services necessary to maintain or improve our quality of life. The kind of personal services performed by these honorees has gone a long way not only towards assuring equal opportunity with respect to access to private and public sector employment, but also towards obtaining dignity and fair compensation for workers on the job.

For more than three decades, Mission Housing Development Corporation has worked to create and preserve quality affordable housing. We have pioneered innovative, award winning housing developments that helped define the personality of the Mission District.

Today MHDC serves almost 3,000 residents in more than 1,000 units. MHDC is one of the largest non-profit housing organizations in San Francisco, with 31 buildings that it either owns or manages.

We are successful and growing! Look for our future innovations in affordable housing for San Francisco and the Mission District.

1950 Mission Street – San Francisco

1950MissionStreet.com

1950 Mission Street is a 36,000-square-foot undeveloped parcel between 15th and 16th Streets in the heart of the dynamic Mission district. Currently it is an empty lot that sits right next to the 16th Street BART station. The parcel was recently acquired by the City of San Francisco from the San Francisco School District. It is being fast tracked to build affordable housing.

The 1950 Mission Street project is a world-class sustainable development mixed-use real estate model that envisions building; a ground floor green retail complex, a second tier of offices for green enterprises and community organizations, and a top tier of excellent affordable housing.

The construction will be done wall to wall with union labor. The ground floor anchor tenant will use union retail workers. The development will meet LEED Platinum status with the goal of achieving Living Building Challenge certification within 18 months of completion.

The project is designed to serve the real world needs of the San Francisco's Mission neighborhood; affordable housing, jobs, sustainable economic development, security, education, community and culture.

The goal is to bring together all stakeholders; community groups, government, organized labor, green capital and community development professionals, affordable housing advocates, local businesses and contractors, with a win-win development strategy that creates value for all.

The development project will create a model that can be replicated in San Francisco and other large urban cites that have similar needs of building affordable housing integrated with community based sustainable development goals.

Quality Cannabis Training

Learn. Heal. Grow.

Quality Training for the Cannabis Industry

America's first cannabis college was founded in 2007 to provide the highest quality training for the cannabis industry.

Since opening our doors, we have helped tens of thousands of people learn how to grow medicinal quality cannabis and gain important skills for success.

Our Instructors are the most knowledgeable in the industry, and our Alumni are the most active in the world.

Have you ever wanted to learn to grow your own medicine?
Are you already growing but want to take your skills to the next level?
Have you ever thought about getting into the cannabis industry?

If you answered yes to any of these questions, we have a program specifically designed for you. From 2-Day Seminars to 14-Week Semesters, we offer courses that specialize in every aspect of the cannabis industry.

Visit us online or give us a call at (510) 251-1544 to talk to our friendly admissions staff about how Oaksterdam University can help you achieve your personal goals.

Americans for Safe Access is the largest national, member-based organization of patients, medical professionals, scientists and concerned citizens promoting safe, legal access to cannabis for therapeutic use and research.

We are overcoming political and legal barriers to help create policies that improve access to medical cannabis for patients and researchers and protect the rights of patients.

ASA is achieving this change through legislation, education, litigation, grassroots actions, advocacy and services for patients and their providers.

It's time to define medical marijuana laws in California!

CRMM is working for a "safe regulated and affordable" system of access for all patients in medical need. It is time to legislate a comprehensive statewide system to legally provide for and regulate the commercial distribution, production, and sales of marijuana for medical use. We support with a collective-bargaining-driven industry and much needed new revenues. All of this for our patients, workers and California communities.

Working Media & Information Services

A Program of Instituto De La Raza

www.WorkingMedia.info

Working Media is a program designed to use video and cloud computing technology to tell stories, deliver access to information and vocational training to improve the lives and opportunities of low-income working people.

Digital Video Media:

Our dedicated portal - www.workinmedia.info - has content specific channels for showcasing web video for "a world that works".

For many years, we have been successfully using digital video to tell our story, create compelling presentations, and to document speeches of labor and community leaders. By using low-cost web-video technology, we expand the reach of stories about a world that works to the 24/7/365 worldwide network of Internet users.

Our goal is to both display our own self-produced videos and to showcase videos from around the web, focusing on educational stories, innovations and solution oriented campaigns.

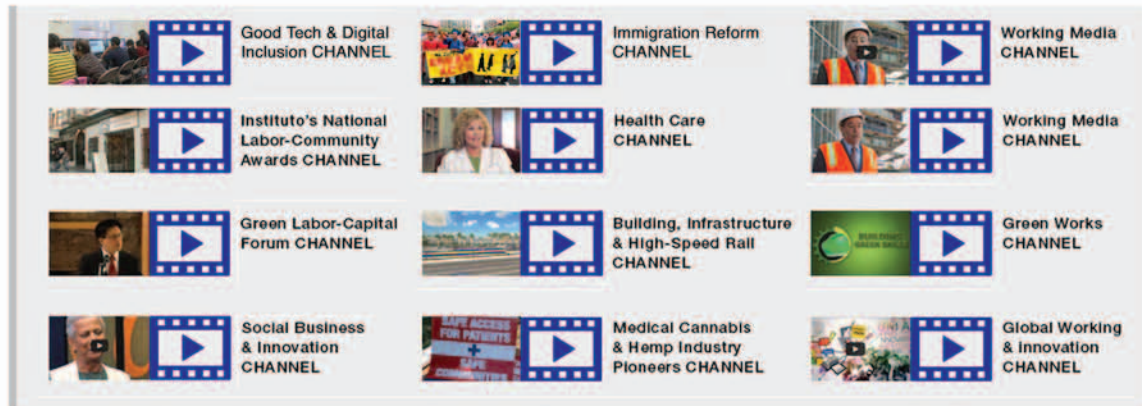

Our intention is to be more than a destination for viewing video. We seek to serve as a resource for discovering great videos that can be redistributed, posted into blogs and newsletters and embedded into other web channels.

We are engaging a network of young volunteers and video professionals to assist us. We facilitate opportunities to "learn by doing" for young people. We give credit to their contributions and skills by presenting their work within our community based portal.

Vocational Training:

Working Media has been successfully using the non-profit enterprise version of the Salesforce.com "cloud computing" contact management system for several years. We are working to establish a vocational training program for low-income workers, teaching Salesforce.com focused computing skills and Call Center customer management skills. Working Media is collaborating with the Mission Language and Vocational School (MLVS) to develop a unique training program that will provide opportunities for manual labor and service workers to learn skills and get jobs providing cloud based computing services.

Working Media - For A World That Works!

Information Services & Internet Access:

Working Media's Information Services & Internet Access project is designed to place AT&T 3G connected pad computers secured to laptop stands in the lobbies of San Francisco community based organizations serving low-income San Franciscans. This pad based Internet access system is wireless and rechargeable, so it runs all day without any electric plug or cables. The touch screen pad is user friendly, easy to learn and unbreakable with normal use. Placed in waiting rooms of health clinics, legal clinics and hiring halls, they provide an opportunity for poor people to learn and use the world's best technology. They can access information on the agencies they are visiting as well as news, mobile email, maps and transit information. These units are often used by kids waiting with parents, and quickly turn into a family learning experience. Working Media is developing relationships with cutting edge App developers, such as Resources Match - La RED, an online screening and referral software application, and basic survival guide information providers, such as San Francisco Free Help Charts, to deliver much needed information services into the hands of low-income San Franciscans.

We have designed a unique Touch Pad Web-Video Delivery System consisting of a 3G Wi-Fi connected iPad secured to a laptop stand on wheels in our client reception area. This provides our clients ready access to the videos, and other web tools while they are in our office. We have plans to place this simple Wi-Fi enabled iPad-based delivery system with other community based organizations that are serving the poor in San Francisco.

SUPPLY DEPARTMENT

We are seeking donations of computer hardware, software, and general IT services!

Instituto Laboral de la Raza (www.ilaboral.org) is a 501(c)(3) non-profit, non-partisan workers resource center headquartered in the Mission District of San Francisco. For over 30 years, the Instituto has served the critical needs of low income workers and their families. We provide legal services, peer counseling, financial education and access to a network of services, all at no charge. Our doors are open seven days a week. We rely on donations and community grants.

Our Working Media program (www.workingmedia.info) uses web video and cloud computing to tell stories about a world that works. The program is designed to deliver access to information and vocational training to improve the lives and opportunities of low-income working people.
