California's Long Term Caregivers

The long term care workers of SEIU Local 2015 congratulate tonight's honorees and the work of Instituto Laboral de la Raza in bringing dignity to working families.

With representational responsibility for over 315,000 home care and nursing home workers, SEIU Local 2015 is the biggest long term care union in California. It is our mission to ensure all long term care workers earn a livable wage, receive the same workplace protections as other workers, and lead on policy that improves the lives of seniors and people with disabilities.

The International Union of Elevator Constructors (IUEC) congratulates General President Joseph Sellers, Jr. of the International Association of Sheet Metal, Air, Rail, and Transportation Workers and International President Newton B. Jones of the International Brotherhood of Boilermakers for their well deserved recognition from the Instituto Laboral de la Raza.

These fine leaders have made it their life's work to serve the labor community, in fact, all working men and women; and the IUEC is proud to stand shoulder to shoulder with them. Their commitment to improving the lives of their members has benefitted all working families as Brother Sellers and Brother Jones have been fierce advocates for workers' rights and elevating the standard of living for all.

These two men embody the mission of the Instituto Laboral de la Raza in all that they do for working men and women, union and non-union, and especially those underserved and disadvantaged. Congratulations once again to Brother Sellers and Brother Jones—two highly respected leaders within our beloved labor community.

In Solidarity,

General President Frank J. Christensen
